

CMS P1-2 COURSE PLANNING AND MAJOR/MINOR AREA

To be filled with the PhD Coordinator during the Individual Annual Meeting in P1 and P2. This document is designed to help you articulate your proposed program of study and scholarly objectives in the first two years of the PhD program.

First year plans are provisional and not binding, although substantive changes in course selection and/or Major/Minor Area require approval by the PhD Coordinator. Click here for more information on Major/Minor Areas. Second year plans should note revisions to the Major/Minor areas and course plans, if any, and be moving you towards the Special Field in P3.

During this time, you will learn and grow, and you will likely adjust the plans you made at the beginning of your PhD program. However, even as your intellectual horizons evolve, they need to do so in ways supported by your course selection, program requirements, language exams, Special Field plans and Supervisor(s).

*In exceptional cases, a student may petition to replace one of the modern languages (French and German) with a different modern language from their area of research. A written request signed by their supervisor must be submitted as early as possible, and no later than the end of the Fall term of Year 2 for consideration by the Centre's Executive Committee. In the case of a successful petition, the student will be expected to take the exam no later than the next examination date. Such substitute examinations will be offered no more than two times per year (April and September). For further details, see the PhD Program by Year.

*Please indicate the courses relevant to the Major Area with MJ, those to the Minor with MN. PhD Students usually take an average of three courses per term, including Latin when necessary, plus MST1003 (CR/NCR), but there is not fixed rule. Feel free to list alternatives. A flexible planning is more likely to be successful.
